MONESSEN MAN SHOT DOWN IN COLD BLOOD; WOMAN IN CASE

Aggrieved Husband "Gets"
Man He Accused of Wrecking His Home Life

SHOTGUN IS HIS WEAPON

Fires Three Times, Reloading Gun
After First Two—Makes His Escape and Police are Unable to Locate Him.

His body riddled with three discharges of a large gauge shot, gun, Joe Dantici, aged 34 years, died at 8 o'clock Sunday morning in front of the residence of Frank Matene on Donner avenue, Monessen the victim of an alleged shooting by Matene.
The accused man escaped and thus far has not been seen.

As usual, a woman, this time the wife of Matene, completed this eternal triangle. About a week ago Mrs.
Matene disappeared. Husband investigated and found clues leading to the machinations of one man. This man, he maintained was Dantici.

Shortly after his wife's disappearance Matene went to the police headquarters at Monessen and told the officers that if he ever found the man who made away with his wife, he would kill him. Ever since he made that statement, he is said to have dogged Dantici's footsteps.

Saturday night Dantici, a friend, Commello Tellata and others went to Brownsville. Matene was seen following the man to the station but went no farther. They returned Sunday morning on the train that reaches Monessen at 7:34. They started up through the town and stopped at a drug store, then proceeded down Donner avenue. Near Patene's home in Donner avenue, between Third and Fourth streets and not more than half a block away from the police station, Patene stepped from the shadow of the building where he lived, carrying a shotgun.

He advanced until he was scarcely four feet from the doomed man, raised the gun and shot Dantici in the neck and chest. He reloaded and fired in Dantici's back. A third shot again, this time inflicting injury he loaded and shot, this time in the side. Tellata in the meantime had

GRAY NOT TO QUIT POSITION OF DISTRICT ROAD ENGINEER

Charleroi Man Reconsiders Resignation and Will Remain With State Highway Department.

Alexander B. Gray, chief engineer for the district embracing Washington, Fayette and Greene counties,
has reconsidered his resignation,
which he handed in several days ago.
It has been learned that the resignation was withdrawn recently and Mr. Gray, for the present at least, will continue at the head of this district of the State Highways department.

Mr. Gray was appointed two years ago to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of O. K. Taylor, former borough engineer of Washington. A great amount of work has been accomplished under Mr. Gray's efficient management and during the coming summer the construction and repair work will be continued as formerly.

BADLY HURT BY INFURIATED BULL

Morgan Yoders, of Near Hickory Has Awful Experience When Attacked

IN SERIOUS CONDITION NOW

An infuriated bull nearly ended the life of Morgan Yoders, of near Hickory Saturday afternoon, when it attacked him and tossed him about much as though he were a child.
Yoders in a serious condition from broken ribs, a broken collar bone and severe injuries about his chest and shoulders.

Yoders, who lives on the Lee Carter farm two and one-half miles from Hickory was leading the bull to Hickory when suddenly attacked by the beast. Yoders was crushed to the ground without warning. Then the bull gathered him on his horns and tossed him into a drain by the side of the road and plunged on to him with both feet. Yoders was too badly injured to move.

The bull followed up this proceeding by again gathering him on his horns and hurling him viciously into the air. Yoders alighted some distance up the bank above the road. The bull backed away for a good start, and charged. Seizing Yoders again on his horns he gave him a toss high into the air and over the fence. The fact that Yoders was sent over the fence probably saved his life, for the bull wasn't able to break through. James Burgett, working nearby, responded to his calls and got him away and later Yoders was removed to his home, to be given medical attention. The bull was captured and tied to the rear of a wagon and delivered to David Miller at Hickory.

PAVING PROJECTS TO BE GIVEN ATTENTION

Meeting of Council Scheduled For Tuesday Evening
When Important Matters Will be Taken Up
Providing Enough Are Present

Three important paving ordinances are to be considered by council at an adjourned meeting Tuesday night if enough members are present.
Three ordinances are for paving parts of Meadow avenue, Eighth street and First street and official action of them requires the presence

Railroad. If the work is done this spring the money to pay for it will be taken from the fund of $65,000 made available by a bond issue that was voted by the people last fall.

CHILDREN HAVE NARROW ESCAPE IN RUNAWAY

Lorraine and Lawrence Martinet Had Fast to Buggy Until Horses Stop.
Then Lorraine Tumbles Out and Is Slightly Hurt.

Three-year-old Lorraine Martinet and her twin brother, Lawrence Mar-tinnet, had a narrow escape from serious injury Sunday evening in a runaway.
As it was Lorraine suffered a cut on the forehead when she fell from their buggy at Ninth street.

The two children were left in the buggy for a moment in front of the Martinet store, while Mr. Martinet was inside. The horses started for the stable in the alley near Sixth street, but it is supposed were frightened and instead of stopping, started on a race down the alley. They stopped at Ninth street. Lawrence was in the bottom of the buggy, holding himself in, but when the team came to a stop, Lorraine tumbled from her seat. She was attended by a doctor and taken home.

CHARGES RESULT FROM FATALITY

Violation of the Bituminous Mining Laws Claimed by Mine Inspector

ONE MAN HELD FOR HEARING

Charged with having violated the bituminous mining laws of Pennsylvania in connection with an accident in the Vesta No. 4 mine of the Vesta Coal company in which one man was killed, Joseph Domko, a motorman and John Batch, a snapper, employed in that mine, were placed under arrest Saturday. They were taken to Washington and arraigned before Justice of the Peace J. F. Carmichael, who held them for a hearing Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. Both furnished bail.

Information in the case is made by Mine Inspector Charles P. Byrne of Charleroi. He alleges that the two men coupled a motor to one end of a trip of cars without authority when there was a motor connected to the opposite end. Then without consulting the crew in charge of the trip of cars they started the motor and pulled the cars down a grade until the breaking of a trolley pole enforced them to stop.

One man, it is said, was killed as a result of the accident and the lives of other miners were endangered according to Inspector Byrne. The incident occurred on March 11 of this year.

Central Committee in Wash-

Carrying on Campaign

SCHOOL CHILDREN TO HELP

County Superintendent Crumrine to Take Up Educational Work—Rev.
McKee to Address New Washington People on Progress of Project.

At a meeting of the central committee of the Washington County Good Roads association Saturday in the Washington Community building, it was reported that 35 counties in Pennsylvania had officially joined the movement for a state-wide good roads day on Wednesday, May 26.
Other counties, it is understood, stand ready to affiliate and there is every reason to believe that the project will be state-wide in reality
when the day arrives.

Six members of the committee were present at the meeting, as follows: President, Dr. W. D. Martin; Dr. W. L. Dodd, J. M. McKee, Superintendent L. R. Crumrine, B. F.
Mevay, Jr. and the Rev. C. L. Mc-Kee. Rev. Mr. McKee was appointed to go to New Wilmington next Thursday, April 22 and address a meeting of the executive committee of Lawrence county. The chairman of this committee is David Jamieson, the well known New Castle banker.
Arrangements were completed to send through County Superintendent L. R. Crumrine a tentative good roads day program to be taken up in the various literary societies in the county schools. The idea is not only to spread the good roads propaganda, but to thoroughly acquaint the school children and their friends with the movement. The material will be furnished by Mr. Crumrine and will be sent out by the committee.

The good roads proposition is to be presented at a meeting of the Washington presbytery of the Presbyterian church. Rev. Mr. McKee has also arranged to spread the propaganda through a series of articles in the religious newspapers of the state.
Drs. W. L. Dodd and W. D. Martin have agreed to go to Greene county and assist in organizing that county.
The grange and the supervisors have both endorsed the good roads day project in Greene, but no county organization has ever been effected.

Next Saturday at noon in the Community building at Washington a meeting of the committee and all interested in good roads will be held for a general discussion. At that time it is expected to block out the work for this year in Washington county and get things in shape for a big campaign.

POOR SPELLERS.

A report just issued by Dean Briggs of Harvard University calls attention to the incorrect spelling which is so common at the present time. Dean Briggs notes that many great men have been very poor spellers, and he finds that nowhere is American education more defective than in its failure to teach the correct use of the English language.

There are of course a great many successful men who are very poor spellers, says an exchange. If a man has executive ability, the gift of managing others the fact that he spells "speech" with an "a" does not hurt much in his business. Everyone knows what he means. His underlings dare not disobey his orders, though they may snicker at his written memoranda when safely out of hearing.

In social life even the successful man will suffer from poor spelling. It will suggest that he belongs to the new rich class and that he has had neither time nor inclination for self culture, and is only a mongrel in everything but the single power of making money.

To the young man struggling for a position in life, lack of ability to spell is somewhat more serious. A letter applying for a position that should contain several unspelled words would be reckoned that of an ignoramus. It would convey a suggestion of indolence and inefficiency.

The older people look back with regret to the Little Red school house where rows of buzzing youngsters used to port over the Blue Backed Speller by the hour together. Perhaps there were as many poor spellers then as now. In those days a great many men had little or no education. Bad spelling may have attracted less attention than now.

The old fashioned school had one astute method of developing the spelling habit, and that was the old time spelling match. Competition does wake up the boys and girls wonderfully. They might dream for days over the regular spelling lesson without acquiring anything. But there was no perfunctory study when they were cramming for the Friday afternoon spelling match.

THE DOCTORS KNOW.

The Washington county physicians, in their monthly meeting heartily endorsed the state wide good roads day planned for May 26, promised to go to work on the roads on that day and also took steps to spread the good roads day gospel to all the medical societies in the state, remarks the Washington Reporter.

Good work, doctors! The men of medicine are the men who know full well the difference between good and bad roads for they are the men who must travel the open road both in fair weather and foul. It matters not whether the road is hub deep in sticky mire or is flooded over with icy water, they must go through and reach the bed of sickness and the house of suffering. None knows better than the physician and particularly the physician with the rural practice, the full and bitter meaning of ill kept roads.

And the doctors of Washington county know one of the remedies for the evil condition of public highways is to be found in a good roads day such as that observed in this county last spring. They know that what has proven good for one county in this respect will prove good for the whole state. They know that with reasonably good roads over the state not only will physicians find better traveling conditions but the sick and the sufferings will gain

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Some men, dressed in civilian clothes, gathered together in the smoking-room of a hotel, discussing the joys and sorrows of life at the front.

"Well, I've been with the army and had a very interesting time," said one.

"Ever get really alone with the enemy?" asked another.

"Rather! I once took two of their officers."

"Unaided?"

"Of course! And the very next day I took eight men!"

"All wounded, I expect," sneered a listener. "You didn't get hurt, did you?"

"Just a slight scratch, that's all. And two days after I took a transport wagon and followed up that by taking a big gun."

"Sir," said a disagreeable auditor, "I have seen some of the finest specimens of anything you can call to mind, but I wish to state that you are the biggest romantic that ever trod this earth."

"Oh, no, I am not that," replied the man; "but I am a photographer."

The following is going the rounds of the Missouri press: Editors are all born boosters. The other day the editor was solicited to join a lodge and was handed a petition printed by a supply house. He got a dun from a merchant in a government stamped envelope and written on a gurgling, oil statement; he made a purchase at a store and got a duplicate bill printed at Chicago and got a check on a bank printed at Denver. Ye Gods, how can an editor expect to join lodges and pay bills on such treatment as that, and all the time tell the people to trade at home? Editors have to be born boosters prepared to live on herring and stand for anything.

disappeared after crying, "My God, don't shoot me."

Where Matene went after doing his fatal work is a mystery. The Monessen police and the state troopers who have been located at Fredericktown started a search through the valley.

A post mortem examination was held Sunday afternoon an inquest was held by Deputy Coroner J. W. Potts of Greensburg and a verdict was given by the jury to the effect that Dantici had met his death at the hands of Matene. The jury recommended that Matene be apprehended and that Tellata be held as an accomplice. Tellata was arrested as the only eye-witness of the affair, and is now in the lockup.

Millions Visit World's Great Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco

ALL RECORDS FOR ATTENDANCE BROKEN BY MARVEL EXPOSITION CITY AT THE GOLDEN GATE.

VAST CROWD GATHERED BEFORE THE HUGE TOWER OF JEWELS. ARE YOU GOING TO VISIT THE HUGE EXPOSITION?

THIS remarkable panoramic photograph shows part of the vast crowd that gathered on the opening day of the Exposition, Saturday, Feb. 20. The crowd was not only the greatest ever brought together in the west, but in vastness it broke all previous exposition attendance records. The grounds were thronged with visitors from every part of the globe, and the big attendance still continues. The opening day crowd was remarkably peaceful, and no arrests were made by the Exposition guards or military during the day, and but one child was lost, and it was returned to its mother within fifteen minutes. There were no accidents. The photograph above shows, on the left, the Italian towers guarding the entrance to the Court of Palms, next the Palace of Varied Industries and in the center and on the right the huge grand stand built before the Tower of Jewels. Here Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane, acting in behalf of

President Wilson; President Charles C. Moore of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, Dr. Frederick J. V. Skiff, director in chief, accompanied by the thirty Exposition directors, welcomed the vast throng that assembled in Van Ness avenue and its lateral streets and, headed by Mayor James Rolph, Jr., walked on foot through the streets of the city and into the Exposition grounds through the Scott street entrance to the grand stand. At the time this photograph was taken, Lieutenant Beachey, aviator, had just appeared above the horizon in his flying machine, and the throng was awaiting Mr. Beachey's approach to circle the huge Tower of Jewels.

Since the opening day the Exposition has been crowded with visitors from all parts of the world. Low railroad rates, the sunny skies of California and the opportunity to see the wonderful displays of the forty-two nations that are participating in the Exposition are drawing thousands to the Exposition city at the Golden Gate.

Slightly Sarcastic.

"I am convinced that in many respects I resemble George Washington," said the pompous man.
"It seems unfair," replied Miss Cayenne, "that an accident of chronology should have placed you at such a disadvantage. Merely because Washington was born first people say you resemble him instead of saying he resembles you. It really seems unfair."—Washington Star.

Canadian Provinces.

The areas of the nine Canadian provinces in square miles are: Quebec, 706,834; Ontario, 407,252; British Columbia, 257,601; Alberta, 253,540; Saskatchewan, 250,650; Manitoba, 251,832; New Brunswick, 27,935; Nova Scotia, 21,428; and Prince Edward Island, 2184.

A Book That Wasn't Published.

A singular plan for honoring heroes was proposed in 1832, if we may credit the following footnote to "La Typographie," a poem by Le Pellerier, published in that year at Geneva: "In February last several newspapers announced that the largest book ever printed will shortly appear in London under the title 'The Pantheon of English Heroes.' The pages of this book will be twelve feet long and two feet wide and the letters six inches high. It has been found necessary to erect special machinery for the manufacture of the paper required. This gigantic work will be printed by steam in characters of gold, no ordinary printing ink being used in the process. Only a hundred copies will be issued, and these will serve to adorn the principal libraries in England." You will not find that book in any public or private library.

Pearls.

The use and popularity of pearls date back to about 300 B. C., but they were known to yet older peoples, and especially to those of the east. The Chinese records go still farther back, and oyster pearls were received as tribute in the twenty-third century B. C. It is probable that they were found in the waters of Ceylon and India 2,000 years ago, and the Greeks of course both knew and recognized the value of the pearl. But it was not until the Roman empire was beginning to rise that the knowledge of the value of the pearl became general.

Unfortunate Namur.

From the tenth century to 1421 Namur was the capital of a dukedom, but was merged in the Netherlands in 1421. It was captured in 1692 by Marshal Vauban in the Netherlands war and three years later by William of Orange. Again in 1746 the French General Clermont took it, and it was taken from the French by Joseph II, in 1794, but restored again later. In 1815 it was defended with great bravery in the Waterloo campaign.—London Answers.

Interrogating a Reformer.

A Billion Dollars.

"I wonder if we realize when we talk of a billion dollars what an enormous sum of money it means. We all know how rapidly an expert counter of coins will manipulate them. You can scarcely follow the motion of his fingers as he shifts the coins from one pile to another and counts them. The treasury experts will count 4,000 silver dollars in an hour and keep it up all day long, but that is their limit."

"Working eight hours a day, then, an expert counter of coins will count 32,000 silver dollars in a day, but how long will it take him at that rate to count a million dollars? Thirty-one days. But that is only the beginning of the measurements of great figures, for if this same man were to go on counting silver dollars at the same rate of speed for ten years he would find that he had counted 100,000,000 of them and that to count a billion dollars would require 102 years of steady work at the rate of eight hours a day during every working day of every one of the 102 years."—O. P. Austin, Former Chief of the Bureau of Statistics.

At Night in Africa.

Stewart Edward White, writing in the American Magazine on lion adventures, comments as follows on the ravages of wild animals in Africa after nightfall:

"We spent the short evening each in his own fashion. I in my canvas chair smoking, the men squatted on their heels around their tiny fires eating quantities of meat and corn meal. Outside our little dome of light the night businesses of the veldt went forward. Only the most formidable of the most insignificant creatures raised their voices except in alarm or warning. Lions roared; insects hummed and chirped. Out there in the dark was a different world from that in which we moved so freely during the daylight hours—a dangerous, tragic world. Next day we would find evidences of the fact. I have seen killed by lions the remains of every sort of creature except buffalo and rhinoceros. Lions are said occasionally to kill even buffalo, though rarely."

A CUP OF COFFEE

It Has No Value as Food, but It Has a Stimulating Effect.

The infusion of coffee presents practically very little material that is of direct nourishing value, says a writer in the London Tablet, but by diminishing nervous fatigue, by virtue chiefly of the caffeine present, it may increase muscular power. It is not itself a builder of tissue. The use of coffee after dinner, it is of interest to note, is justified in a large number of cases by the fact of its stimulating effect upon the vital centers, and it is said to serve to some extent as an antidote to alcohol.

It is commonly claimed to remove drowsiness. As a matter of fact, in many subjects it produces drowsiness, but this is usually followed by marked wakefulness. The practice of drinking coffee after a meal for the sake of the stimulus which is experienced has much to be said in its favor dietetically.

There is no reason for supposing that coffee possesses any value as a food. The berry contains a quite important proportion of fatty substances (12 per cent average), but these are necessarily excluded from the infusion, as, owing to their insolubility, they remain in the "grounds."

According to our analysis, the protein contents of a cup of coffee are small, approximating to 1.25 per cent of the coffee extracted. This amount can have little dietetic significance. There is also a trifling quantity of sugar present, besides traces of alcohol, which again can possess no importance from a physiological point of view.

WOOD FOR VIOLINS.

Maple is the Best and is What the Old World Famed Makers Used.

In the finest violins the body is made of white maple. In cheap ones violet ebony is used. In medium priced ones alternate leaves of the two are employed. The best wood of all is that of the spica, a tree resembling a fir in general appearance, which grows in central and northern Europe, but musical instrument makers set special value on that from the Vosges mountains. Its wood is most homogeneous and has the advantage over all others that there is scarcely any difference between the sap wood and the heart.

Violet ebony, which comes from Brazil, Africa and India, is much used for pianos. True ebony is now so expensive that it is reserved for nuts and trivets.

Scammore maple, somewhat less homogeneous than white maple and hence less sonorous, is employed chiefly in making mandolins.

The wood of trees from high altitudes and a severe climate is much better than that from plains and warmer countries for all purposes in which sonority is desired. And it should have had no less than 200 or 300 years of growth, and its concentric circles should be no more than two or three millimeters apart.

The ancient violin makers, Stradivari, Amati, Guarnerius and the others, used the finest and best seasoned maple, and this, with their perfect varnish, is why their violins have lasted so long.—New York World.

The Seven Wise Men of Greece.
The seven wise men of Greece were Thales of Miletus, Pythagoras of Corinth, Cleobulus of Lyndus, Chilon of Lacedaemon, Solon of Athens, Bias of Priene and Pittacus of Mytilene. Some fishermen of Miletus sold a draft of fishes to a bystander. When the net was drawn in it contained a golden tripod, and the purchaser claimed it was his, while the fishermen contended that they sold only the fish that might be in the net. The dispute was referred to the oracle of Delphi, who awarded the tripod to the wisest man in Greece. Thereupon it was taken to Thales, who declined it and suggested that it be given to Bias. He in turn refused to accept it, and thus it was successively declined by all the seven, and they were thereafter known as the seven wise men of Greece.

Beltane.

In the highlands of Scotland and in Ireland May 1 was called Beltane. This was the name of an ancient pagan festival, traces of which have survived to this day. The name is still used for May day in Gaelic Scotland. It is said that the druids on that day used to make two fires with great incantations and drive their cattle between them as a safeguard against disease.

CHANCE FOR ALL TO SEE WOMAN'S LIBERTY BELL

Route Planned Will Carry Suffrage Symbol Over the Entire State

Practically every man, woman and child in the State is to have an opportunity to see the Woman's Liberty Bell during its 5,000 mile tour through the 67 counties this summer. Lashed securely to a big motor truck, the bell is to be started on its travels at Towanda, Bradford county, on May 15th. From there it will travel westward through the northern tier of counties, and thence in a southwesterly direction to Pittsburgh.

The bell will be the feature of the big Fourth of July suffrage parade in Pittsburgh and will then be taken in a zigzag route up and down the State, reaching Philadelphia on the Saturday before election in time for a big night demonstration of the Quaker City suffragists.

A corps of speakers will travel with the bell and explain the justice of the woman's plea for the ballot, which their Liberty Bell symbolizes. According to present plans, the bell will be on tour exactly 24 weeks covering between 20 and 30 miles a day.

In discussing the bell tour at the recent county conference of the Woman Suffrage party, the representatives of every county agreed to have delegations of suffragists meet the bell party at the county line and escort it to the county seat. There, another delegation will join forces with them and accompany the bell over to the next county. In this way the trip of the Woman's Liberty Bell will be one continuous demonstration for suffrage from one end of the State to the other.

A HUSBAND'S CONFESSION

Yesterday Mirandy voted. But so far I haven't noted That she's sprouted any whiskers or adopted trouserettes: And she hasn't indicated Since she got emancipated That she means to start out raiding with a bunch of suffragettes.

Took her half an hour to do it. An' as soon as she was through it, She went hustling home without a stop to scrub the pantry floor; Cooked the dinner, did some baking, Trimmed a dress that she was making.

Mended socks and got the ironing all done by half past four.

She appears to be as able To keep victuals on the table And to keep the moths from feeding on my go-to-meeting coat— Just as handy with the baby (Or a little more so, maybe)— As she was before they told her women ought to have the vote.

Far as I have observed Mirandy, She is just as fond of candy And as keen to read the fashions and the daily household hints. As before she was my "equal." And—however strange the sequel—I've been just a trifle prouder of Mirandy ever since! —W. Ke Maxwell in Judge.

NEIGHBOR, DO YOU KNOW

that for twenty years the farmers of California tried in vain to pass the Torrens land law which would make impossible the extortions of title guarantee companies and would provide for registration and speedy transfer of land? Do you know that last fall, three years after the enfranchisement of women, this law was adopted with a majority of over 100,000, largely by the help of voting women? This was an important measure for California farmers, and no people realized it more than the women. Do you think there is anyone who appreciates your work more than the women who make butter and gather eggs? Don't you think it is about time that the woman who has been your partner on the farm becomes your partner at the polls?

CHARLEROI GIRL SCORES

BIG HIT AT PITTSBURG

Eighteen-Year-Old Miss Given Enthusiastic Applause by Audience For Her Efforts.

It remained for a Charleroi girl of 18 to bring the fastidious folk of the Pittsburgh Musical Society to enthusiastic applause of a musical program at Pittsburgh Sunday night, a fact related in the Pittsburgh Gazette Times, as follows:

"So used are the veteran and finished musicians of the Pittsburgh Musical Society to doing their work in an artistic way that they were not especially impressed with the rounds of applause which greeted each and every number of last night's program at their final concert of the winter season. Not so, however, with a sweet-faced soprano of about 18 from Charleroi—Miss Mabel Werkne who was scoring her first triumph before, perhaps the most critical and exacting audience that could be gathered in Pittsburgh."

"For it must be remembered that practically everyone of the audience of 800 which packed the auditorium of the society's headquarters in the Manufacturers' Building in Duquesne was a trained musician." It devolved upon little Miss Werkne to show them that she had a soprano voice of merit; and she did it. The Charleroi maiden walked off the stage after her two numbers with rapturous applause ringing in her ears and a huge bouquet of roses in her hands. The little girl had sounded every note of the soprano's range—and apparently with ease."

Miss Werkne sang the aria, "O don fatale," from the opera "Don Carlos." Miss Werkne is a pupil of W. L. Mayer of Pittsburgh, who conducts the Pittsburgh Musical Society concerts.

OHIO WOMAN'S DROPSY CURED!

Tells Everybody How This Happy Result Was Produced.

"Dear Editor:—For a long time I had been suffering from dropsy. I had puffy pouches under my eyes. My feet, ankles and abdomen were swelled to twice their natural size and a finger pressure on the swellings left a white dent which remained for some time. This water often pressed against my heart and caused a smothering sensation. I had severe headaches, continuous backache, dizzy sensations and rheumatic pains throughout my entire body. The kidneys were off in their action and this poison backed up in my system. In spite of my doctoring and the taking of many remedies I obtained no relief."

Finally I was given a few Lloyd's kidney and rheumatism tablets, the new scientific prescription. These did me such good that I at once got a larger size and in a week's time all the swellings, backache, and other symptoms left me like magic. I now feel like a new woman. Lloyd's Tablets deserve all the credit for curing me of the trouble and ridding me of the terrible agony. I advise all to be sure and get from their druggist today, Lloyd's, the kind that cured me, and cleanse their kidneys before too late.

The opening of the season was more auspicious than usual as regards the weather conditions and many fine strings of fish have been brought in.
